

IMG Sports Media's Head of Production, Tim Ball writes;

IMG Sports Media had a requirement to train our team of production managers in the fundamentals of Employment Law. We needed a tailored course and one that demonstrated how this legislation affects their day-to-day operations. Making use of the Indie Training Fund's unique In.Indie funding scheme, we were able to deliver two courses; one at the ITF and on in-house here at IMG. This enabled us to get the maximum number of participants through the training. Colleagues were impressed with the course leader Dermot Scully who as a practising lawyer gave the material the 'real world' edge we required. The participants commented on the 'in-depth' and 'well-structured' nature of the course, how it increased their understanding of the subject, and the engaging delivery of the trainer. It was a great success and we intend to undertake more professional development courses with the ITF in 2011.

What the delegates thought of the session:

"A very good in-depth course which covered all areas"

"Really good trainer. Very interesting course"

"Excellent course: very informative and structured"

"I am now more aware of employers'/employees' responsibilities & rights"

"Has simply increased my understanding of the subject, and may well force me (and IMG) to change working practices"

"It was good that it was covered by an independent lawyer and not an IMG representative"
